

A Macro to Blank the Screen
WordPerfect Magazine
Q&A

Q: I need to blank my document screen with one keystroke. This is necessary when I'm writing confidential material in a public setting. Is there any way to do this? – Ron Terpening, Tucson, AZ

A: The included macro, ALTB.WPM, will do what you're asking. Just press (Alt-B) and your screen goes blank until you press (Enter). Your document is then returned exactly as you left it.
